HOW TO BEAT SPALDING.

Leaguers Busy With Schemes.

"Moral Obligation" to Support Primary Nominee Not Strong Now.

New State Machine Legally Bound to Choose the San Diegan, But Won't.

Candidate of Party Will Be Ditched, Is Plan; Lasser Looms Large.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Meyer Lissner's executive committee will meet in San Francisco Tuesday morning to consider matters that will come before the legislature at the pending session.

These include subjects mentioned in the State platform, the organization of the two houses and the Senatorship.

The Lissner machine organs are endeavoring to befuddle the Senatorial situation to make it appear that there is no candidate with the formal endorsement of the party, that Works ought to be chosen, but that if he is not chosen other Lissnerites should be.

No one, however, wants Spalding. He is not the choice of either the old machine or the new one. But it just happens that under the law, he is the party candidate. And that is the situation that nine-tenths of the Legislature will try to find an excuse to squirm out of.

Last June, at the meeting of the Republican State Committee, Chester H. Howell, president of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, which is now the Republican State machine, presented the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the plain intent of the direct democracy is that the regular members of the party shall be morally bound to all Republican members of the Legislature in the sense and to the extent stated in that law, and that it would be a violation on the part of any Republican legislator of his obligation to his party to vote for any candidate for United States Senator except the one receiving the plurality of votes at the Democratic Primary either in his district or in the majority of districts electing Republican legislators."

OBIGATION NOW LACKING.

The primary had not been held then or Spalding would not have taken such a positive stand in favor of the law, and its "moral obligation."

Now the primary and the elections are over, and Spalding has sixty-three Republican districts to only thirty for Judge Works, a clear majority not only of the party but the whole Legislature for Spalding. He still looks at the matter through different spectacles.

The "moral obligation" which was then laid upon him he then insisted upon, is now strainly seeking.

"In all good conscience, reform Republicans should, and reform Democrats may, support Judge Works, as the practical nominee of their party," says Howell, editorially, this morning, thereby serving notice that the Leaguers will disregard the primary law on the Senatorship.

The actual figures in black and white are as follows:

Spalding: Senate, holdover districts, 11; Senate, new members, 9; Senate, total, 20; Assembly, 42; Spalding, total, 42.

Works: Senate, holdover districts, 4;

SNOW CONCEALS TRAIL OF MASSACHUSETTS ROBBERS.

Hold-Up Men Get Between Ten and Twenty Thousand Dollars From a Construction Camp Paymaster and Escape in Woods---Posse Baffled.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

GREAT BARRINGTON (Mass.) Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] MURKIN: The robbers' search in a snow storm followed close after them and two shots were fired at him, both missing. He continued several hundred yards and lost track of them at a brook.

A slight snow added in the search Saturday but today snow fell all day. The posse surrounding a swamp failed to capture anybody and a search of the woods today proved futile.

It is believed the robbers have escaped. William Taylor, a noted hunter, went through some of the densest portions of the woods today and feels convinced that the robbers have escaped. The guards, one by one, left their stations today and practically all of them ran down the country road. The woods have been given up. The Italian work camps were searched by detectives. No valuable crews were discovered.

A reward of $500 for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction has been offered by the Wrenco Construction Company.

KILLED AT FOOTBALL.

Player Is Accused of Murder.

Captain of West Virginia College Team Victim of Opponent's Blow.

Umpire Says Bethany Athlete Deliberately Hit Runner on His Head.

Warrant for Arrest Issued After the Autopsy and Partial Inquest.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WHEELING (W. Va.) Nov. 13.—A warrant charging Thomas McCoy, right end of the Bethany College football team, with murder in connection with the death of Capt. Rudolph Munk, of the West Virginia team, was issued here today by Magistrate R. C. Hobbs.

The action followed a partial inquest by Coroner W. W. Rogers.

Munk sustained injuries in the game between the two teams Saturday, from which he died five hours later without regaining consciousness. The testimony was furnished principally by Homer N. Young, a Pittsburgh attorney, who umpired the game.

Young testified that Munk was making interference and was a few yards in front of the scrumline line when McCoy came up to him, striking him in the head. Munk fell to the ground unconscious and Young ordered McCoy from the game.

DISCLOSED BY AUTOPSY.

The autopsy disclosed that Munk's death was caused by a blood clot at the base of his brain and could not have been the result of a fall from the game.

McCoys' action followed a partial inquest by Coroner W. C. Canton, Ohio. The coroner said his arrest will be served tomorrow.

In giving details of the way in which Munk was injured, Mr. Young said the ball was on Bethany's thirty-yard line when Munk started down the field for interference.

"He was near the player with the ball," Mr. Young said. "Munk was met by McCoy, who ran toward Munk as they both were running down the field. Ten yards behind the scrumline line, when Munk was in front, McCoy struck him in the back of his head with his fist. Both Munk and McCoy fell, but the latter quickly regained his feet, looked at Munk and started off the field.

"CLEARLY INTENTIONAL."

Young said that as the blow appeared to him clearly intentional he immediately put McCoy out of the game.

No other witnesses were heard today, but several players have been summoned for tomorrow when the inquest will be resumed.

The warrant for McCoy's arrest has been placed in the hands of an officer. McCoy left college this fall without notifying the faculty and did not play on the football team.

President Crabbett of Bethany College, said tonight he was unaware that McCoy was to play in Saturday's game.

It was announced tonight that all remaining games scheduled by West Virginia University will be cancelled, including the Thanksgiving game with Washington and Jefferson, which has heretofore been one of the biggest games in this section.

TRAGEDY WILL NOT AFFECT COACH'S PLANS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15.—Sunday, Thompson, coach of the University of Pittsburgh football team, tonight said the death of Rudolph Munk would not change the policy of Pittsburgh regarding football.

"While we regret such things," said Thompson, "I can see no other way than that Munk should never have been allowed to play. I was afraid something of the kind would happen." Munk, while a fine fellow, a good student and a good football player, was a man of erratic physique and weak in the lungs. He was not the kind of man who should play football.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE TO REVIEW MUNK CASE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

MORGANTOWN (W. Va.) Nov. 13.—President Purrington of West Virginia University, was not in Morgantown to-night, but Prof. H. S. Green, chairman of the athletic committee, said:

"The majority of the athletic committee will be held soon, and the bearing of Munk's death upon the football situation will be discussed."

"Any recommendations of the athletic committee will have to be acted upon finally by the University Council."

PARENTS DISTRESSED, RETAIN AN ATTORNEY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

CANTON (Ohio) Nov. 13.—Thomas A. McCoy, charged with murder in connection with the death of Rudolph Munk, arrived at his home here this morning.

His father, John E. McCoy, a prominent business man, he told his story of the part he played in the football fatality, and Attorney Luther Whitney, of the Wrenco Construction Company, who has been opposing the defense, was ready to surrender his legal services against the Wrenco Construction Company.

Six Killed and Many Are Injured.

Train Rushing Into Kalamazoo Tears Trolley to Bits on Curve.

Electric Current Shocks and Burns Those Who Escape Worse Fate.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

KALAMAZOO (Mich.) Nov. 13.—Six persons are dead and twenty-six injured, four seriously, as the result of a collision between a passenger trolley and a west-bound express train on the Michigan United Railways Company, and a west-bound express train on the Michigan Central Railroad late last night.

All the dead and injured were passengers on the street car. The dead are:

WARD ABBOTT, 35; WILLIAM SCHAFER, 45; MARY ELVIRA CRAIG, 26; GEORGE M. NORMAN, 45; THERON MOSE, 35; paper maker of Kalamazoo.

J. F. LANG, 35; blacksmith.

All the dead, except Mose, lived in this city.

AT HIGH SPEED.

The train was running into the city at high speed, and as it rounded a curve it crashed into the street car.

Conductor Van Horne, of the street car, was standing between the Michigan Central double tracks. He had signalled his car to go ahead. He claimed he did not see the express train coming in time to stop his car.

The train hit the front end of the car, tearing it to bits. Mangled passengers, living and dead, were carried on the front of the engine, and with those taken from the ruins of the street car, were hurried to hospitals.

HUNCHED BY CURRENT.

The passengers who were caught in the car were burned and shocked by an electric current that was continually running through the metallic parts of the car until the trolley was moved.

Mrs. Elvira Craig was frightfully burned. Her back was a mass of charred flesh. For nearly a minute she lay in the street with her clothes ablaze before being discovered. She suffered her removal to the hospital and died.

Miss Core, Frontenay, lay all night beside the Michigan Central track unconscious from terrible injuries. She was removed to her home and may die.

The two railway companies refused to give out a statement today concerning the wreck, but have already begun an investigation.

EXTRA SESSION NOT IMPOSSIBLE.

Democrats Could Rush Their Tariff Tinkering.

New Insurgent Rule Will Jam Next Congress.

Bare Chance Remains That Old Heads Will Rule.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The startling fact starts the Republicans in the fact that under the new rules of the House it is possible for the Democrats to force an extra session of Congress and put up to the administration a tariff bill. It is considered possible, too, that the Democrats will do this if the leaders conclude that they would be able to whip the new membership into line for a bill along the lines they favor.

The peculiar situation as to a possible extra session comes from the new rules made by the Democrats and the "insurgents" at the last session for the government of the House. Under these rules only three days a week may be given to the twelve great appropriation bills that furnish maintenance for the government. The history of Congress shows that the average time for the consideration and passage of these bills is five days each or a total of sixty working days.

The coming session of Congress is a short one, having only sixty working days in it. Under the new rules of the House there is "unanimous consent" Monday, as it is called; "calendar" Wednesday and pension or private calendar Friday. With Monday, Wednesday and Friday covered over, there are just three days a week left for appropriation bills and other legislation. The President wants to put through important legislation perfecting existing laws while the regular session of Congress will there be time to do it?

The whole outlook is anything but encouraging to the Republican leaders. The one hope they have is that the experienced members of the party will want to take chances on handling a lot of green material in so important a matter as the tariff. Their policy, it is supposed, will be to have the new majority in the House pass bills between March 4 and December, 1911, so as to be prepared for partial revision.

SHOW CROPS INCREASE.

Agriculture Department Estimates California Products Are Twenty-two Per Cent. More.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to the Department of Agriculture, taking California's crops for 1910 as 100, the crops for 1910 reached 122, or 22 per cent. more, while in comparison with crops for the preceding five years, the crops of 1910 represent 118.

California makes even a better showing of its crops for 1910 bearing the relation of 140 to 130 and 120 to the previous year. The record stands at 75 and 76 and 77 which might indicate that last year's crops were above the average.

The production of crops for the whole country, within the production in recent years is as follows:

Lemons, 95; oranges, 95; sugar beets, 100; peaches, 113; lime beans, 100; dry beans, 95; peans, 98; cattaloupe, 97; grapes, 93.

WILL PRESS RIVER PROJECT.

Secretary Does Not Believe Riots Will Affect Mexico's Attitude on Colorado Work.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of the Interior Ballinger and Assistant Attorney-General Oscar Lawlor were assured today by Secretary of State Knox that he has every reason to think Mexico would grant permission to do necessary work on the Colorado River on Mexican soil.

There is no doubt, he says, to think that the anti-American outbreaks in Mexico will have any effect on the negotiations unless it may be to hasten them. The work in view will benefit Mexico inasmuch as that country gets one-half the water from the irrigation canal lands below the California border.

No objection has been offered by Mexico to this work, but Secretary Knox will urge haste by the Mexican government and he has little fear but that the desired permission will be granted as quickly as the necessary details can be passed on in Mexico City.

PREDICTS CHEAPER MEAT.

Secretary Wilson Says Bumper Corn Crop Will Give Consumer Lower Food Prices.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of Agriculture Wilson joins Charles W. Armour in predicting that falling prices soon will give the American consumer cheaper foodstuffs.

"We have had bumper crops and meat prices should come down," says Secretary Wilson. "The crops have been such that a drop in prices should be an inevitable result. The only thing that can defeat this, would be that too great toll is taken after the products leave the hands of the farmers and before they reach consumers."

A big decline in the price of grain is regarded as the keystone of the supply problem. The abundance of the corn crop, in opinion of department experts, means that prices of meat must come down.

WIFE IS CONGRATULATED.

Former San Francisco Belle's Husband Is Promoted by Russian Czar, With Whom He Dines.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Vladimir Artsimovitch, an American woman, being cordially congratulated on the unusual distinction just conferred upon her husband, the Russian Consul-General here, by his sovereign.

When the Czar was a guest of Emperor William at Potsdam on Friday, the Consul-General was invited to dine at the palace. After dinner the Czar turned suddenly to Mr. Artsimovitch and informed him that he had been appointed a court chamberlain and under-secretary in the Czar's personal department of foreign affairs.

Mrs. Artsimovitch, a daughter of the late Capt. A. M. Hobbs, and one of San Francisco's most beautiful women, married first Webster Jones of California. She obtained a divorce and ten years ago she was wedded to her present husband in New York.

PINCHOT, FEARING DEFEAT, BEGS PRESIDENT TO BLOCK COAL CLAIMS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Expressing the fear that the Interior Department will recommend the patenting of the Cunningham Alaskan coal lands which he believes to be fraudulent, Gifford Pinchot, former forester of the United States, has appealed to the President to allow him to submit a brief before any such action is given executive approval.

Mr. Pinchot, writing to the President under date of November 7, says, in part:

"It is unfortunately impossible to look with confidence to the officials of the Interior Department for an unbiased judgment in this matter, and it is clear the protection of the public interest in these Alaskan coal lands must depend directly upon the President himself."

"Secretary Ballinger's connection with these claims, which have been before the Interior Department since he was Commissioner of the Land Office, precipitated the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot controversy and the Congressional inquiry of the Interior Department and the Forest Service which resulted therefrom."

AMOS SIGNS, TOO.

The letter also bears the signature of the former forester's brother, Amos Pinchot. Following is the text of the letter:

"NEW YORK, Nov. 7, 1910.—The President, Washington, D. C.

"Sir—The taking of testimony to determine the validity of the Cunningham coal claims has long since come to an end, and the recommendations of the Interior Department to patent or not patent the claims will be made before long. There is reason to apprehend this recommendation favorable to the Cunningham claimants, and adverse to the interests of the people of the United States."

"In your letter to me of January 7, 1910, you said with reference to the Cunningham claims:

"Executive action is completely within the jurisdiction of the President to direct the withholding of it in order that he may examine the evidence as to the validity of the claims."

"I am advised by counsel retained for the purpose of representing on the Cunningham record, that the testimony of the claimants themselves shows abundantly and conclusively that the claims are fraudulent, and that they were made in violation of the statute designed to prevent monopoly."

WOULD SUBMIT BRIEF.

"Among the recent indictments against claimants for coal lands in Alaska, there are none relating to claims in the Cunningham group."

"The record is voluminous. The case against the claimants consists of a large number of documents corroborated by facts elicited from the claimants themselves."

"The record indicates that the force of certain important lines of evidence against claimants for coal lands in Alaska, there are none relating to claims in the Cunningham group."

"The record is voluminous. The case against the claimants consists of a large number of documents corroborated by facts elicited from the claimants themselves."

"It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that these deliberate assertions made by the attorney for Mr. Ballinger represent the opinion of the lawyer retained after the evidence was all in, that the claimants are valid and should be patented."

"For them to render a decision adverse to the claims would not only lead support to critics heretofore made against the Department, but would lead to the disappearance with their chief on the argument made for him by his personal counsel."

"In view of these facts, it is impossible to reach a conclusion on the validity of the Cunningham claims, though his attorney can scarcely fail to have great moral weight with his subordinates."

"For them to render a decision adverse to the claims would not only lead support to critics heretofore made against the Department, but would lead to the disappearance with their chief on the argument made for him by his personal counsel."

"He indicated he would recommend Congressional authorization of this legislation in his annual message."

Mr. Ballinger added that for several months at his own instance the cases had been placed under the special direction of the President with a view that no action be taken without his personal sanction.

"According to the testimony of rep-

In spite of the election results, the Ten Commandments are still in general circulation.

A general election is pending in England. Wonder who will be the "goat" over there?

Another election like that of Tuesday, and the Salt River country will be set aside as a forest reservation.

The average man bemoans the fact that he owns so much stuff when he visits the office of the tax collector.

Really the chrysanthemums are as large as ever this year; they only look small in comparison with the new hats.

Almost a week since the Democratic victory and the price of tenderloin has not been reduced. Is that what the dear people voted for?

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts insists upon wearing an Imperial, but it looks as if he might have a close shave for a re-election.

With a Democratic Legislature in Ohio, the railing of a United States Senator will be another case of "The Highest Bladder."

The report that the cat escaping with the Weilman party will fill a few Chautauquas dates had not been confirmed up to the hour of going to press.

Why don't some of the people who insist that Perry never reached the North Pole, organize an expedition and start north? There is nothing holding them.

Times have changed. It is now necessary for a Congressman to do something besides write letters to his constituents and sign "Your obedient servant."

A lady friend of ours who has just commenced house-keeping wanted to know the other day if it was proper to inquire at a hardware store for pretzels.

The Crown Prince of Germany is coming on a visit to the United States, but girls, there is no use putting on your rats and bobble skirts. He is a married man.

The olive crop is short in some sections, but not because so many olive branches have been cut to be passed between the various wings of the Republican party.

The population of Iowa has decreased during the past ten years according to the census returns. Therefore it does not become Iowans to scold about the race suicide in France.

No, Clarence, the number, "A Barque at Midnight," sung at the reception tendered by Violets Allen by the members of the Friday Morning Club, was not written at the dog pound.

The new President of Portugal is said to have saved two-thirds of his salary of $1200 a year, earned as an educator. He was probably too busy to go out and treat a friend.

The description of his home by Lake Como by Claude Monet in "The Lady of Lyons" was all very well in its way, but we failed to notice any mention of the garage or hangar.

We beg to announce that Aldrich has been vindicated. But this particular Aldrich was the Republican nominee for Governor in Nebraska, and he cleaned up on "Cowboy" Jim Dillmann.

It remains to be seen whether President Taft has the nerve to appoint a man who wears fan-tailed whiskers to the high and honorable post of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The League of California Municipalities will meet in San Diego, Nov. 15-18. Los Angeles ought to send a delegation as many matters of interest and importance to California cities will be discussed and acted upon.

A score of Democrats elected to the next Congress are already kicking against the election of Champ Clark as Speaker of the House. We fear Champ failed to have his claim on the job properly protected by patient.

More than $100,000 worth of gold has been recovered from Alaska by the United States mint office at Seattle since the first of the year. That is sixteen times more than Secretary Reward paid for the country in 1872. And how everybody laughed at him for investing so much in mountains of ice and snow!

NO DISCRIMINATION BETWEEN WORKMEN.

If the amendments to the Constitution, providing for the contribution of $5,000,000 by the State of California, and $5,000,000 by the city of San Francisco, in aid of the Panama Canal, have been adopted, they will need to be vitalized by appropriate legislation before the money can be used. A clause in a Constitution is either a grant of power to a Legislature to do certain things, or a restriction upon power. The amendment providing for the gift of five millions of dollars by the State to the Panama Exposition is not, without legislation, operative as a grant. It will be the duty of the Legislature to define the powers and prescribe the methods of action of the five Panama Canal Exposition Commissioners, and of the officers and subordinates whom they may appoint. In enacting a law for that purpose it is to be hoped—and, indeed, expected—that the legislative Solons will remember that the exposition is not merely a California exhibition, but a nation-wide—a world-wide—exposition of the products and arts and sciences of the century, and that any attempt to fetter, or any permission to fetter, the conduct of the exposition with the mandates of prejudice or graft, will discredit California in the eyes of the civilized world.

We expect the porcelain of Sevres, the velvets of Lyons, the linens of Ireland and the masterpieces of painting and art from Italy to be exhibited at San Francisco in 1915. Will the labor unions of that city be suffered to emulate the example set by their predecessors at the St. Louis exposition, and allow no goods to be opened except by members of the Packers' Union? If they do, the commissioners to the exposition from foreign countries may follow the course adopted at St. Louis and decline to open their exhibits, deeming that an embroidered silk mantle would not be safe in the grasp of a labor-unite whose unwashed hands had never handled anything finer than a horse blanket; that a $100 clock ought not to be subjected to such treatment as a $1 watch marked down to 99 cents; that a Murillo ought not to be unboxed by a man who had never handled any work of art of greater value than a 10-cent chrome; that a statue of marble should not be unwrapped by a bungler who could not unpack a wooden Indian for a tobacconist's sign without knocking his nose off (the Indian's, not the tobacconist's).

It should be provided by law, in the employment of men in and about the exposition, from foundation stone to turret of the edifices, from gates to limits of the grounds, and in the conduct of the exposition, no distinction should be made between union and non-union workmen. If a labor-union boss should issue a decree that no uniuote should handle trowel, hammer, paint brush or soldering iron on an exposition building, because a non-union workman had been employed to hew stones for its foundation, and the union workers should be so cowardly or so misguided as to obey such orders, then let them go without employment and join the multitude that await the coming of the food killer. There are enough independent, manly, fearless, competent non-union workers in California to construct the exposition buildings and conduct the fair from start to finish.

The exposition will be for the world, not for San Francisco alone. The Chinamen will send their teas and silks; the Japanese their curios, camphor gums and lacquered wares; the Hindoos their spices; the South Africans their gems; the Russians their sables; and Europe, South America and the Antipodes will contribute their products. Every exhibitor from any State or any part of the world should, so far as the unpacking, placing and conduct of his own exhibition is concerned, be suffered, subject to general rules, to employ whomsoever he pleases, without bar of race, nationality, caste or creed.

Any narrow policy of discrimination between union and non-union workers, adopted by those charged with the conduct of the Panama Canal Exposition, will surely work unremediable disaster to the enterprise. The $10 million of dollars donated by the State of California and by the city to the exposition will be contributed by the taxpayers and not by the tax-eaters. The seven and one-half millions contributed by the citizens of San Francisco, will come out of the pockets of business men and home owners, who will never stand for a proposition to support Tietjeme and Gallagher and McCarthy and their notorious followers out of it.

Let us have a fair law for the management of the great exposition—fair to both union and non-union laborers. Any other course will bring failure to the exposition and shame to the State.

A "SABROUS" DECISION.

In the Haywood case, which was tried at Boise City, Idaho, the jury was kept together for two months. The Idaho statute requires the county to provide jurors during a trial with lodgings, food, fuel, lights and stationery. The bills for all these things were audited and ordered paid by the Board of County Commissioners, but they balked at a barber's bill of $81.65 for shaving and cutting hair of jurors. Whereupon the court gave the plaintiff a judgment for the amount claimed. The board appealed and the renowned case of Schmetz vs. the Board of County Commissioners came before the Supreme Court.

That tribunal held that the claim presented could be justified, if at all, only on the ground of the inherent power of the court to incur and order paid all such expenses as are necessary for the holding of court and the administration of the duties of courts of justice.

But, reasoned the Supreme Court of Idaho, the whiskers and hair of the jurymen would grow just the same at home. There is nothing peculiar or

TALKING SHOP.

TAKE

THE MEXICAN AFFAIR.

American sympathizers with anarchists (really, they should be called un-American) are partly responsible for the recent outbreak in Mexico.

Circumstantial evidence is insufficient; there must be direct proof.

Across the Atlantic this is not insisted upon in cases where it is shown that a body was destroyed by chemical or mechanical means. In the Crippen instance, the section of the human body found beneath the cellar of the doctor's house could not be absolutely identified because of the intrusions of quicklime. This circumstance in itself was very suspicious. When coupled with the evidence which Scotland Yard was able to produce regarding the action of the doctor, it became more so. Finally Crippen ran away. "The guilty flee when no man pursues them;" they seek steamboats to put a long distance between them and their crime when they fear the officers will soon be on their trail.

The sympathizers who desire to embroil this country are never so happy as when mixing up in some unpleasant mess, and they do not fail to strain the truth in an effort to endanger the peaceful relations of the two countries. We have evidence of it in the willful exaggerations which were given publicity in this city and elsewhere by the paid press of the revolutionists. It was stated, for example, that an attempt was made to assassinate United States Ambassador Wilson—absolutely untrue.

We can safely trust President Diaz and his advisors to guard the lives of Americans in Mexico and to take steps to prevent a repetition of the minor outbreaks of last week. With Secretary of State Knox, we are sure the Mexican government will be swift to put down all hostile demonstrations against Americans. At the same time, when the revolutionaries have been pestered from time to time with anarchists who have fled from justice below the boundary line, in fact, men who self-constituted mission is to stir up trouble in Mexico make this their temporary headquarters whenever they feel a sensation about the neck which puts courage into their heels.

rover who have lived, fought, purchased, for man and man's rights. They may be every clique, every group, every earth, regardless of their color, faith. They are as countless stars; hold out the hope, the light, the dreams of the discoverers of land and star, who have drawn the curtain of the great unknown, veiling unto us the wonders containing jewels, the treasures, new lands, new countries, with us giving them to us to inherit, to adorn an age of ours. And like the stars, some whatever their name, sand things, who have added comfort, happiness or health.

I mention here just White, the cotton gin, Goliath and Sampson. The released hands from tedious work; the draw near ten thousand of the worlds; and Gutenberg, who was the printer prior which it may be long, would return back a thousand years.

Again let us give thanks, waldens, who chased out the Lucifer, and Rembrandt, Hugo Van Dyke, free from paint and brush. And Goethe, Hugo, Tennyson, and Goldsmith, "Bobby" Burns, gave life to thoughts and words, more than the world over we come to Mozart, Bach, Mendelssohn, Wagner, Beethoven, Verdi, unconquered masters of harmony in sound.

And so on—Bach, Beethoven, of stygian creeds, Gluck and Cherubini; and Froehel, Girard, kind souls, as gentle summer's night and thunders, bright and Pasteur, whose witness to their fame. And Huxley, Spencer, Comte, who gave the holy torch of reason to the world in the night of Asa Kappler, Ritter, and the one giant in his field, not alone in his field, but in his vain. And let us not forget the Bohester, who heartily adored him. Compared with the dramatic and hopeless scenes of two long, tragic acts of this play, the nobility of them is but the trivial reverie of an introspective moment.

You might say that the subject-matter of "The City" is very much akin to "Ghosts" but it goes deeper than "Ghosts" in result. Oswald Alving, the man who is the central figure, draws our attention for several hours into quiet idleness, from which state he emerges with his mind as delivered by poison. But poor Alving, after living a smoking life, finally commits unconscious incest, and so again let us give thanks to the starlit sky. Chester Jackson, Bruno, and John Reed, one a giant in his field, not alone in his field, but in his vain. And let us not forget the Bohester, who heartily adored him. Compared with the dramatic and hopeless scenes of two long, tragic acts of this play, the nobility of them is but the trivial reverie of an introspective moment.

It is necessary that police reporters, newspapermen, physicians and others do these things occasionally.

They are the merciful ministers who heal the sick and affix the eyes of the world. We know that they have done well, and sometimes they have been blamed and malignant snarlpox has been spread, and bullock plague, are not they are not necessarily subversive of the stage?

The story of "The City," briefly, consists in the fact that the two sons of the hunchbacked by the yoke of poverty—could eat the crusts of the tears of pain.

And let us not forget the two sons for whom were Harry L. Alden, the novelist; Lucretia Mott, writer; Madame de Staél, French Honneur, the artist; Roland O'Farrell, two patriots; Florence Nightingale, and thousands more, who have lived and died at the expense of their labor, thoughts, work, and sacrifice, have given us stones which you may have reached up to the top of the mountain, and where we stand now.

To these great heroes then, you will more, whose names and the tide of time has washed away, let us give thanks and let us stand where once they stood.

These belong to our thanks.

To those who have given us their lives in silence bend our heads with imagination's hands we pay tribute on their grave.

Production of Phosphate

The world's annual product of phosphate rock is about 1,000,000 tons.

The United States being the producer, with an annual output of more than 2,000,000 tons.

Thus ranks second, produced phosphate a rather low grade to the amount of $117,000 in 1905. In 1906, Gaffa Company, which owned 500,000 tons, got out more (net) to equal 220,000 tons.

Pays a large dividend on the stock of $75,000, as is shown by the fact that the stock of this company is more than 500 per cent.

Phosphate Company of Long Beach deposits of 50,000,000 tons, high grade phosphate on Pleasant Islands, in 1906, got out 200 long tons per year at 50 per cent, on a stock of 50 per cent, on a stock of $125,000. A company has recently begun to export to a considerable number of the Island of Anguilla, which lies westward of the Caribbean, a great distance from the Florida (Consular Reports).

Wanted It All

The matines performances were half over, and the distracted woman, with a curiously pale face, thought out the "man in office." With great impatience began to relate her woes.

"There are boxes, boxes, there," she began, "and your box is in there, get a box of chocolates, and the box office."

"I've seen the box office," she asserted, "and the box office is all right."

"Well," she continued, "I dropped a nickel in for a girl."

"And couldn't you get the box office man?"

"If you can't get it out."

ATTELL HOLDS CONLEY EVEN.

Abe Has His Hands Full With Bantam Champ.

Frankie Has Advantage in Thirteen Rounds.

Efforts Being Made to Secure Finish Fight.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT 1
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Abe Attell, featherweight champion, and Frank Conley, bantamweight champion, fought 15 fast rounds to a draw at the West Side Club this afternoon.

Conley did all the leading, and had a shade the better of Attell in almost every round up to the 13th.

Both were strong and aggressive at the finish. Attell weighed 124 pounds, and Conley 122. Dave Barry, of Chicago, was referee.

The largest crowd that has attended a fight here in twenty years witnessed the contest. Most thought Conley should have had the decision. Attell used his forces and not until the concluding rounds did he extend himself.

Conley went at his man hammer and tong. He landed the most blows, but few of them were damaging. Ninety-nine per cent of the blows landed by both fighters were jabs or short arm hooks in the clinches. Conley's style was to cover his head and rush with swift blows to the face. Attell did well to mind the jab and for the first five rounds played a waiting game, always guarding against body punches with his left. After the second round Conley rushed his opponent around the ring and frequently had him on the ropes.

Conley met Attell's occasional rushes with rapid, short punches to the head, and ribs and only once did Attell appear to have his worsted. Attell covered his opponent and extended his face for Conley to jab at, always looking for an opening for a stiff body punch, but it never came.

After the twelfth round the fighting was fierce with Conley leading. Attell to the best of his ability made the latter nervous and swift in the fighting. In the fourteenth Conley landed often in the first half, but Attell let himself out and the round closed with both men fighting hard and smart.

Neither man showed signs of distress when the gong sounded for the final round. It was the fastest of all, with both men trying hard for the decision, but the blows were short and without power.

Although fighting is limited to twenty rounds here, an effort will be made to match Conley and Attell for a finish fight for the featherweight championship in the Christmas holidays.

"DOLLY" GRAY SHINES AGAIN.

FORMER LOS ANGELES PITCHER DEFEATS VERNON.

Angel Team Shows Many Players That Made it a Classy Club Two Years Ago—Hitt and Schaefer Are Punched All Around the Lot and Get Poor Support.

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—"Dolly" Gray, who "she" once was played by the Los Angeles team was what the 2000 fans at Chutes Park got yesterday in the final exhibition game between the Angels and the Vernons, and but few of the fans could find any particular objection to the contest for it was a fast one and the girls pretty play.

The real cause of the outpouring was the desire to see Dolly Gray pitch and he proved himself just as good as when he played on the local team several years ago. He was as wild as usual but he held the Vernons to four singles and they would have been shut out but for two errors by Kit Branson, who was playing shortstop. One of these bungles was a mix of Ross' dinner for breakfast of third base, a moment later Brother Roy and Ross at second on a ground ball to Kit and still later Kit's low throw to first of Fisher's grounder enabled Roy to score the only run for Vernon.

Dolly headed a high class game, barring the last two errors which probably had been due to the fact that he has not pitched for several months. At that, four bases on balls and two wild pitches do not look very good for a big league pitcher, but this kind of business made him dinner as long as he could keep the Vernons from hitting him at the right time.

Hitt headed the first five innings for Vernon and he had an error each in the first and the fifth through Ellis' swat to center. Bernard's sacrifice, Cravath's out at first and Dillon's scratch infield hit.

In the sixth Schaefer went into the box and Cravath the first man up, hit a grounder that Roams booted. Dillon was thrown out at first on a saran to field right, Cravath going to second on the officials. At the final four, the Americans and two foreign cars ran madly on the track. The Americans never, for a moment, faltered from the plan thought out by them before the race.

The foreigners, though having the great advantage of faster cars, seemed to forget every element of vice, except speed and daring. There were frequent comments that the American team, equipped throughout with machines as swift as those of the foreigners, would have driven them to a better finish.

Wagner, who received the worst injury, was reported on the road to recovery today.

BIG BENEFIT GAME.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT 2

PORTLAND, Nov. 13.—The Portland team of the Pacific Coast League won a benefit game of ball tendered them in recognition of their successful contest for the league pennant for this season. The opposing team was picked from local and professional players.

The score was 1 to 1.

Eugene Krapp pitched for Portland, and was hit only three times, one of these being a home run by Speck Harkness.

The amount secured from admission fees will be turned over to the Coeur d'Alene Foundation Fund.

The Frenchman was never again in danger of being defeated in the heat although Samuelson made him ride a record-breaking race to win.

De Rosier turned his machine loose on the last lap and was 100 yards in the lead when he hit the tape.

In the second heat the riders passed each other twice, and in the first three miles De Rosier clearly demonstrated in the last mile that his competitor was at his mercy all the way as he pulled away from him with ease and had fifty yards lead at the finish.

J. Graves lost to Charlie Balko in the first qualifying heat of the trade riders event. Balko's victory was a great surprise to the spectators as it was thought that Graves was involved in the race.

The second heat of the race was ridden in 3m. 1-5s., breaking the former track record 14 2-8s., and covering the distance in close to world's record time in competition. The record for a night from the start to finish, Graves set by Balko, was 20,000 barrels a day, all under cultivation of five small farms, and the big tract is planned 200 acres will be reserved for a home place, upon which will be raised the finest Guernsey and Holstein cattle.

THE SYSTEM OF GHENT.

A Belgian Scheme of Insuring Workers Against Periods of Unemployment.

Louis Varis, a Belgian statistician, has devised the most practical and sincere proposal to relieve unemployment among unskilled and untrained workers. The scheme would provide insurance funds of the unions.

In times of prosperity the unions collect from their members certain dues which make up the unemployed benefit fund. From this fund the unemployed workers are entitled to a sum of money.

During periods of unemployment the unions pay out small sums to their unemployed members.

However, at periods of a severe crisis the funds of the unions are easily overdrawn. Hence enters in Varis' scheme.

By means of insurance, the unions are put in the position to increase their unemployed funds.

The city of Ghent, in Belgium, introduced a system of unemployment insurance.

It is generally recognized as the most efficient measure against unemployment, and many States and municipalities have adopted it.

Germany has also adopted it.

France has also adopted it.

The system of Ghent is the most complete and the best.

IN THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH.
THERE IS REALLY ONE SUPREME QUESTION IN WHICH ALL MANKIND IS INTERESTED.

"The question no man ever answered" was the subject of the sermon preached by Dr. J. Whitcomb Huntington at the Temple Baptist Church last night. The text was: Heb. 2:5. He said in part:

"How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation? Men and women are interested in a great many questions of the day, but when we get down underneath all the problems of life and become seriously thoughtful, there is really one supreme question in which all men are interested."

"What interest some in the question of Good Government; others would be glad to discuss the social evil and how to eliminate it from society; with others the great question is what to do with the liquor traffic; still others are interested in the problem of the poor; in fact, mankind is divided into great classes by these questions. They are as varied as the differences between individuals; they are as many as the variety in the colors of our eyes or our hair, but in all these problems there is one great question that, if it could be successfully answered, would really solve all the others that now agitate human society."

"The question which I have just read presents to us the greatest problem in a number of situations and circumstances. What is it that we want to escape? There are three objects from which man needs a refuge. In the Old Testament time they built cities of refuge that men might escape for the time being from their enemies and the judgments of God. Instead, instead of being the objects of human wrath and a violent temper."

"We want to escape sin. This is the tremendous question of all ages and all people, in all places. Sin is no respecter of persons; it has no regard for place. It is well that it will sooner or later express itself. How ever polished and refined and cultured and rich a man or woman may be, there still remains the root of sin, and the great problem is, how can it be eradicated?

"How shall we escape the devil? There are two reasons why we prefer to believe there is no devil. There are two reasons why I believe in a spiritual being called the devil. In the first place, the Bible speaks of the Devil in the same connection as it speaks of God. 'Resist the devil and he will flee from you.' 'He who overcometh me will draw night to you.' If there is no personal God there is a personal devil. But I believe in a personal devil because of the results of his work in the world."

"We behold everywhere the signs of God, but everywhere in human society we may find the footprints of the devil. Walk the streets of Los Angeles; go into the saloons; see the secret places of vice; read the faces of men and women on the streets; visit the hospitals; listen to the words of men; and you will find that Satan has been around; then human nature stands condemned under the severest arraignment that can ever be brought against it. Man is the object of attack of a great spiritual, personal force, from which only divine power can deliver him."

"How shall we escape hell? The hell here on earth, and hereafter. Oh, the tremendous sorrow of this world because of the results of sin! There is no escape from hell here on earth except through God; so long as there is no escape from sin, hell is the result of sin. Some people tell us that sin is only an 'error of mortal mind.' Then it is the most tremendous error that the mortal mind has ever conceived. If it is only a mistake, then it is the most serious mistake that man has ever made."

"We cannot buy our pardon and escape sin with money. Money is a mighty power in the world; it can accomplish wonders; but it can never deliver us from the power of sin. We must be born again, and then we can escape sin. In fact, money too often becomes a means by which man gratifies their desire for sin and becomes more thoroughly entangled in its meshes."

"To make this statement without fear of contradiction, the best people in this world are the people who cannot afford to be bad. The cry of Queen Elizabeth, 'All my possessions for another moment of life,' could not extend her life; and the cry from the greatest millionaire the world has ever seen, 'All my possessions to escape sin,' would not give him deliverance."

To unite justice and mercy, the head and the heart, the sentiments and the understanding is to build up a personality with prophetic power. ## SPRUING UP FOR TOURISTS.

MANY FORMS OF ENTERTAINMENT BEING PREPARED.

Pasadena Expects Increased Throng of Visitors and Winter Season Will Be Gayer Than in Previous Years—Dr. Burdette Preaches at Former Church.

(Office of the Times, 31 E. Raymond avenue.) PASADENA, Nov. 14.—The winter season is now opened and the city is entertaining its usual crop of winter tourists as never before, because there are far more to entertain. Although the summer has been a busy one in the building line and new houses have gone up on all sides, there is still a shortage of desirable places in which to house the great throngs now here. Every day brings its new arrivals, and every arrival has the good news that some of his friends or relatives are coming out a little later.

"The houses which are open are rapidly filling up, and the Raymond and Green, which will open a little later, report very heavy bookings. The Green will open its doors as usual on December 1 and the Raymond about the middle of next month. Both hotels are booked solid and crowded during the later months. All of the small hotels are well-filled, far in excess of any previous year.

Realizing that winter visitors demand entertainment outside of the mountain scenery and climate, Pasadena's ardent promoters have new lines of entertainment for this season. In fact, more lines of entertainment have been worked out than ever before. The Annandale Country Club has made additional room for the benefit of those who will want to go to golf. The Raymond will also take care of many others. The Pasadena Polo Club is now well organized with an enthusiastic membership.

An excellent polo field has been prepared with stable facilities for 200 polo ponies and a driving range for 100 ponies, to start during the winter. The Driving Club has also fitted up quarters for the layers of harness horses. Every tennis courts have been built. The Maryland courts, those at the Valley Hunt Club, and Carmelita Gardens will provide courts for tennis players.

The Pasadena Tourists' Club, on West Colorado street, has been fitted up with a large number of new horse-shoes, checkers and chess tables, where the old timers can play their favorite games during the winter.

In addition to all these garages have been built and enlarged to take care of the thousands of automobiles which will be brought to the city for the winter. Already several hundred have arrived, and more are coming every day.

The improvements which have been made in the county roads during the summer will add additional pleasure to the joy riders during the sunny winter days.

DR. BURDETTE PREACHES.

One of the very interesting parts of yesterday was that by Dr. Burdette, who filled the pulpit at the Pasadena Presbyterian Church for years ago. Dr. Burdette was the pastor of that church. He also filled that pulpit for several months just before Dr. MacLeod arrived, and now, during the interim, Dr. French gets her, which will be about Jan. 1. Dr. Burdette will preach every Sunday.

"It is a joy to come back and preach from the pulpit of my first pastorate in Pasadena," he said as he spoke to reporters. "I rejoice over the way the Lord has made so many improvements, and yet I am glad that we all still preach the same gospel from the same Bible. We all have the same teachings and give thanks to same God."

His text was taken from John 9: parts of the first and fifth verses: "And as Jesus passed by he saw a man which was blind from his birth. I am the light of the world." In part he said: "The two men met. One had never seen light; to him everything had always been darkness. The other saw nothing but light. He looked down on the world and saw light. In the meantime God looked down on the world and it was dark, and he said, 'Let there be light, and there was light,' and since that time the world has never been dark. At some time during the day the beautiful light of the sun shines on every part of the world."

"Darkness is the essence of fear and doubt. The small child fears the dark and why? It is that he knows and that will harm him. He fears the dark because it is dark. The whole world fears darkness. It is a natural consequence. When a man is in darkness he is ignorant and in doubt. He is ignorant of the things which stand about him, but let him see the light and everything is changed. To him the world is a different world. Ignorance fades away, and he can see and know in the broad light of the world."

"When Jesus saw the blind man standing there, he caused him to see the light of day and to that man there was a new world. Jesus had done a miracle, but the man did not know it. He loved Jesus. The touch of kindness had been administered, and it was appreciated as it always is. Was it necessary to tell that man that Jesus was the Son of God? No, he knew it from the very moment that he saw the light."

EUOLOGIES DOLLIVER.

"Many young brilliant young orator have been spoiled by the gift of gab. He allows that gift to run wild with him. John F. Dolliver was a great orator, but he had to work hard for it," said the Rev. Dr. Matt S. Humes, who in his address at the First Methodist Church, which was a eulogy on his life-time friend, the late Senator John P. Dolliver of Iowa.

"We were boys together," continued the speaker. "We grew up in the same neighborhood, and the boyish fights and were both popular, such as 'Prent' Dolliver, as we called him for his middle name was Prentice, was a fighter and a man set in his ways."

"He was a firm believer in everything with which he was connected, and that was his strength, and that was his weak point."

"We grew up in Virginia, and war times. That was on the border between the North and the South."

"Our fathers were both Abolitionists of the hottest kind, and we boys inherited that enthusiasm. In the training which young Dolliver had followed him through his great career as a public man. He was always a strong partisan, and his caustic wit and abuse against the Democratic party was his forte. I was born in Covina, California, and went to Washington as a member of Congress. When he was in that branch of public life, he was what was known as a regular Republican and fought a great battle for the Dingley tariff bill.

"The Dolliver boys and their father grew up together and were always the very dearest friends. One older brother, W. L. Dolliver, was a Methodist preacher and John F. Dolliver was a faithful Christian. It is said of him that he always attended the weekly prayer meetings whenever public duty did not interfere. "Would to God we had more United States Senators who attended the weekly prayer meetings more regularly."

Dr. Bradford and Mrs. Garland conducted him at Van Nuys Hotel, where he lived for several months, and again at the Sisters' Hospital, where the distinguished patient was taken when he became bedridden fourteen months ago.
